

Conclusion

The project report entitled “student Management system For Community Through Development Polytechnic Cell” has come to its final stage. The software is the best product of our little dream. We give our best effort & our bests to make it as good as possible. The journey of our project has come to an end but the skills & experience we got from it is the earnings of the lifetime. We will try or promise to make the project to reality to make it best software as we ever thought.
